What do I do?

Look at the features labelled on the Moroccan Garden worksheet.
What are they and what do they do?

Try and remember as many of the names as you can in 30 seconds.

Using your coloured pens or pencils carefully draw an outline of a garden on a piece of paper.

Now, draw and label as many of the features in the garden as you can remember!

Repeat the activity with the British Garden worksheet. Do the gardens share any of the same features?

Tip: Your own drawings do not have to be identical to the pictures. Why not use the same features to design your own garden.

Moroccan garden worksheet glossary

- walls - commonly used for privacy and enclosing the garden
- olive trees - commonly found tree that grows in Morocco
- pergola - a garden structure used to create a shaded walkway or seating area
- shade - an area not in direct sunlight (caused by structures such as trees)
- symmetry - it describes the same shape either side of the middle. In Islam it is a sign of God.
- water rill - a long, straight channel constructed for water to flow down.
- fountain - an ornamental feature in a garden which spouts water.
- seating - a place for people to sit and relax or eat.
- arch - a curved symmetrical opening, usually a doorway.
- tiling (zellige) - an area covered with decorative, usually square, tiles which fit perfectly next to each other.
- low hedges - small hedges which can be used to frame flower beds or paths.
- path - a path usually tiled, which leads you around the garden to different features.
- flower pots - a small container used to grow plants in.
- orange trees - another commonly found tree in Morocco.
- flower beds - a plot in the garden used to grow flowers.

British garden worksheet glossary

- brick wall - commonly used for privacy and enclosing the garden
- raised beds - soil is raised above the surrounding soil in containers which can be built out of wood, rock or concrete.
- patio - a paved outdoor flooring area
- trees - most British gardens contain many trees which cast shade and also act as privacy from neighbours.
- shade - an area not in direct sunlight.
- eating area - a table and chairs are often found on patios for outdoor eating in summer months.
- flower pots - a small container used to grow plants in.
- path - a path usually using paving stones, wood chip or gravel which leads you through the garden to different features. Stops you having to walk on grass if it's wet or muddy.
- lawn - a large area of grass, often used to play games on, such as football.
- flower beds - a plot in the garden used to grow flowers.
- fence (trellis) - a fence runs around the outside of the garden to keep it enclosed. Trellis fencing has lots of smaller holes in it for climbing plants to grow up.
- greenhouse - a glass building used to grow plants in and keep them out of the cold.
- bird bath - an ornament with a bowl filled with water for birds to drink from and wash themselves.
- bird feeder - a hanging or standing feature filled with bird feed, used in winter months to feed birds when natural food is limited.
